LEWIS ORDER TO MINERS IS
BRANDED HOAXSAFETY GUARANTEE
IN PITS REMAINS
BIG HINDERANCE

Washington, April 8. (P)—Coal operators accused John L. Lewis tonight of perpetrating a "hoax" and a "deceitful dodge" in an effort to delay a back-to-work movement which the government said has boosted soft coal production to 40 per cent of normal.

Lewis, whose United Mine Workers ceased labor last week following the Centuria, Ill., mine disaster, dispatched a telegram to union district leaders today saying mining should be resumed in any pit the federal government certifies safe.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, issued a statement saying this was a hypocritical, deceitful "dodge" designed to prolong a "degenerate and premeditated strike."

Move Called Bluff

Lewis, the statement said, "is in reality telling his miners not to return to work until the federal inspectors have had time to revisit all the mines and recertify them—a matter of weeks or months."

"Mr. Lewis tried to bluff Secretary of Interior Krug into taking this position and Krug refused. Mr. Lewis is trying to obtain the same result by compulsion upon his own members."

"Union officials in various districts are active in attempting to prevent the men from returning to the mines. Reports of intimidation at the mines by the union are reaching Washington from many points."

"Many of the mines which worked yesterday are down today."

Earlier, Walter A. Thurmond, secretary of the Southern Coal Producers association, described the Lewis move as a "hoax" designed to prolong the work stoppage.

The Coal Mines administration announced that 1,368 mines employing 107,738 miners operated today. There are about 2,500 mines in all. Estimated production today was 900,000 tons, about 40 per cent of normal.

The operating mines included 700 United Mine Workers mines employing 66,000 U. M. W. men.

Appears In Court

Yesterday's total was 1,200 mines, employing 100,000 men and production was estimated at 723,000 tons. That total included more than 500 U. M. W. mines employing 54,000 men.

By order of Lewis, the industry was shut down for a six-day "mourning" period last week after 111 men lost their lives in the Centuria, Ill., mine blast. Miners in many districts continued the shutdown this week.

Today Lewis told his men to resume work in any mine the federal government certifies safe.

Truman Calls
Cabinet; Price
Spurt Feared

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, April 8 (P)—President Truman today called a special cabinet session for tomorrow to consider—in the words of one top official—"whether official steps should be taken" to combat high prices.

The nature of such steps was uncertain, said Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the president's council of economic advisers. Nourse conferred with Mr. Truman today and told reporters the inflationary threat is "serious."

Later Nourse divulged he had presented a memorandum on price trends to Mr. Truman. Tomorrow, he said, he expects to "scan the possible things that can be done," in consultation with the cabinet.

He indicated this might boil down to an intensified campaign by cabinet officers to press for voluntary price reductions and moderation in union wage demands. To re-control prices, he conceded, would be difficult since the OPA machinery is almost dismantled.

"The president wants to canvass the situation with the cabinet," he said. "The question in mind is whether official steps should be taken."

Almost as if cued to the White House developments, wheat prices tumbled for a time by as much as seven cents a bushel at the Chicago grain market, while in the New York Stock Exchange leading stocks dropped $1 to $4 a share before the liquidation halted.

Nourse told a reporter that the labor outlook is a factor in his concern. Three weeks ago, he said, the price situation appeared fairly stable except in foods. Since then (1) the wholesale commodity price index has risen to a new high since 1920; (2) a telephone strike has occurred; and (3) major wage settlements are hanging fire in steel, automobile and other industries.

SOVIETS ACCEPT
ATOMIC DETAILGromyko Agrees To Plan
For Strict Inspection
From Ore To Energy

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Lake Success, N. Y., April 8 (P)—Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, agreed tonight to an important feature of atomic energy control.

An authoritative source said that Gromyko had told a closed meeting of the working committee of the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission that Russia would accept strict inspection and control of the atom from the mine ore stage to its ultimate preparation as nuclear fuel.

This was the first time that Gromyko had definitely placed his government on record for that part of the commission's report approved last December by 10 other members of the 12-nation group.

The development came as the working committee began for the first time a detailed study of Russia's plan for controlling the atom.

The committee decided to continue work next Monday.

The major points of Gromyko's plan are:

1. An immediate convention banning the atomic bomb and providing for the destruction of existing stocks of bombs.
2. An international system of control established by another convention and administered "within the framework of the security council."

New Evidence Found
In Yacht Explosion
Case At Santa Ana

Santa Ana, Calif., April 8 (P)—State Department of Justice investigators said today they had uncovered additional evidence in the yacht explosion deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell.

California's attorney general, Fred N. Howser, announced he was taking personal charge of the case and planned to come here tomorrow for conferences with his deputy, Henry A. Dietz, former FBI agent. Dietz took over the investigation last week, supplanting Orange County District Attorney James Davis.

Dietz told newsmen that "new leads have been obtained that will greatly assist the prosecution" of 17-year-old Louise Overell, and her fiancé, George Gollum, charged with her parents' murder. He said that "joint efforts of State and local authorities have now produced a tremendous fund of information and evidence."

GIRL UNDER SPELL?—The staring eyes of George (Bud) Gollum may have so hypnotized stolid, apathetic Beulah Louise Overell that she still remains under his Svengali-like domination, say Santa Ana, Calif., authorities. The pre-medical student and his 17-year-old sweetheart are held in the alleged time bomb yacht explosion murder of the girl's parents. Examining physicians report her in a hypnotic monomania condition, apparently induced by Gollum prior to the tragedy. (NEA Photos.)

Election Gives GOP
Firmer Control Of
State Government

(By The Associated Press)

Republicans, who gained control of most of the State's key offices at last November's election, held a still firmer grip today (Wednesday) as final returns from Monday's election trickled in.

Although many of the contests were on a non-partisan basis, there was no discounting the fact that Republican candidates won out in the majority of cases.

Democrats put up their bitterest fight in traditionally Democratic Wayne county, but even there the trend was against them. Jacob P. Sumeracki, chairman of the county board of auditors, was the lone Democrat who successfully withstood Republican challenges for office.

Supreme Court Justice Leland W. Carr, who gained statewide fame when he and Governor Sigler teamed up in an investigation of reported corruption within the State government, polled the heaviest vote of any candidate of the day.

Returns from 2,848 precincts out of 3,968 in the State gave him 270,507 votes. Election officials estimated the total State vote would be about 400,000.

Spokesmen for both parties conceded that flood conditions throughout Southern Michigan, together with the voters' apathy towards the colorless campaign, had combined to keep the vote down.

Detroit election officials said that less than one-fourth of the city's voters went to the polls. Communications difficulties, due to the telephone strike, slowed down newspapers and press associations in efforts to tabulate the results.

Incumbent Supreme Court Justice Henry M. Butzel joined Justice Carr in taking substantial

REICH BOUNDRY
QUESTIONS NEXTMinisters Get Nowhere
On Reparations And
New German Rule

By WES GALLAGHER
Moscow, April 8 (P)—After weeks of fruitless arguments, the foreign ministers agreed tonight to shelve the stalemate questions of reparations and the makeup of the German government, and to proceed to the discussions of German boundaries.

The deadlock finally was broken by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who previously had blocked all moves by the United States and Britain to take up the next item on the agenda.

United States sources had said before today's meeting persisted in what Americans called "obstructionist tactics," the four-power council might end very soon.

The ministers also agreed to speed up delivery of war plant reparations from Germany, but no progress was made on main reparations questions. Molotov, on the insistence of the other three ministers, withdrew his proposal to set up a nation-wide police system under direction of the proposed German government.

Despite the minor agreements, the ministers engaged again in a number of acrimonious discussions, and it was apparent that after four and a half weeks of arguments tempers were wearing short.

Wayne University
Bans AYD Activity

Detroit, April 8 (P)—Wayne university today withdrew "recognition" of the American Youth for Democracy as a student organization, in effect suspending its formal activities on the campus.

Dr. David D. Henry, president of Wayne, reported that recognition of the AYD as a student activity had been withdrawn in the light of a department of justice report that AYD chapters were "Communist youth recruiting centers."

The action came after a lengthy battle between university officials and members of a state senate subcommittee investigating subversive activities, who had demanded that AYD be banned at Wayne.

FORD FUNERAL WILL BE HELD
ON THURSDAYINDUSTRY TENDERS
ITS TRIBUTE TO
AUTO GENIUS

BY ARTHUR EVERETT

Detroit, April 8 (P)—A nation today mourned the passing of Henry Ford, a symbol to all the world of American industrial genius.

Hailed by his cohorts as the father of mass production, he died quietly of a cerebral hemorrhage late Monday. He would have been 84 next July 30.

By chance, a flood had converted his modern home at the time of his death into a fireplace heated, kerosene lamp-lit building, strangely reminiscent of the quiet world of his birth.

The body of the angular industrialist will lie in state throughout Wednesday in Greenfield Village, not far from the Little Red Brick Building memorialized as the home of his first crude horseless carriage.

Grandson Holds Reins
A public funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. (EST) Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral on Detroit's Woodward Avenue, the street which echoed the startling sound of his first automobile a half century ago.

He will be buried beside his mother and father at a private ceremony in the Little Addison Ford cemetery near Greenfield Village. There will be no pallbearers. Employees of the funeral home will handle the casket with mechanical aids.

At news of his death flashed around the world, speculation arose as to its effect on the $800,000,000 industry he founded with a $28,000 investment in 1903.

Industry circles concede that his passing will have little effect on the Ford Motor Co. since it has been firmly managed by 29-year-old Henry Ford II who took the reins from his aging grandfather in 1945.

It was assumed that the elder Ford's personal fortune of upwards of $200,000,000 will go on to his widow, Clara Bryant Ford, who was with him when he died. They were to have celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary and her 80th birthday Friday.

Praised By Competitors
Ford and his wife were understood to have held 58 percent of the voting stock in the company, while the other 42 percent was assumed to have been in the hands of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edsel Ford, and her four children, including Henry II, Benson, William and Josephine Ford.

Probating of Edsel Ford's estate, as far as has been publicly disclosed, is still underway. The elder Ford's only son died in May, 1943.

The auto industry, which for years feared Ford as a keen competitor while respecting him as a genius in his field, was quick to send its condolences on his death.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., board chairman of General Motors, industrial rivals, hailed him as typifying "the best in American enterprise" and President C. E. Wilson lauded "his perseverance in overcoming heavy odds at a time when the things he worked at were considered impractical."

Telephones Still Silent In Strike

Washington, April 9 (Wednesday) (P)—Non-stop government efforts to break the telephone strike deadlock continued past midnight tonight with an air of hopefulness that the basis for settlement was within reach.

Efforts centered here on talks with officials of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and of the Long Distance Workers' Union.

Agreement in the long lines negotiations could touch off settlements by the more than 20 other units in the Bell system.

The long lines department of A. T. and T. employs approximately 20,000 members of the National Federation of Telephone Workers. Altogether 300,000 Bell system employees are involved in the nation-wide walkout which began Monday morning.

Because of the strategic position held by the long distance operations of A. T. and T., it is considered a key in the vast country-wide organization.

Government conciliators while admitting they were hopeful that a settlement was near for the long lines division, would not commit themselves on whether it would occur tonight or say what stage their discussions had reached up to midnight.

A recess in the talks was called at that time, but it was only a half hour for a meal.

Earlier in the evening government officials reported "good progress" in the long distance negotiations but company and union officials were not so optimistic. One union leader said the results were "nil."

EGGS AT MARQUETTE

Lansing, April 8 (P)—At the insistence of Governor Sigler, striking unions of telephone workers and the Michigan Bell Telephone company today agreed to provide immediately full telephone service in the state's flood-stricken areas.

At a conference of company and union representatives with the governor it was agreed that Mt. Clemens and Flint be designated emergency areas for telephone purposes at once and state police cars were detailed to take union officials to the two areas to put the plan into effect.

At Detroit a company spokesman said Western Electric had agreed to give Flint an assist by supplying new equipment to replace flood-damaged installations. Indications were that no repairs or outside equipment would be needed at Mt. Clemens, he said.

At Marquette, the company spokesman said, a man drove by the exchange twice in an automobile and tossed eggs at the picket lines, but apparently no one was hit.

At Lapeer five boys, ranging from 10 to 12 years of age, appeared in front of the telephone building and began picketing the pickets. The boys, the company reported, carried signs reading, "Operators are unfair to citizens," "We want to use our telephones," "Striking against strikers" and "Go fly a kite."

The company also said that Mackinac Island, which was cut off from the Upper Peninsula mainland Monday when an ice jam snapped a submarine cable 4.1 miles long, would be serviced for emergency calls by a pair of mobile radio telephone units.

The units, which the company hopes to have operative by Wednesday, were taken from Saginaw and were to be carried across the Straits channel on the ferry. Meanwhile, the Coast Guard was ready to carry any emergency messages from the island to the mainland.

The court ordered immediate payment of one-third of the sales tax to municipalities and school districts, an estimated $25,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

That portion of the amendment which guarantees schools a State aid appropriation does not become effective, however, until July 1, the court said, and requires action by the legislature to put it into effect.

The court made it clear it had no power to force the lawmakers to act. But said the Legislature was constitutionally bound to do so. There was speculation the lawmakers might ignore the constitutional provision, but the consensus appeared to disbelieve that.

Sales tax officials said the court's decision that the school aid grant is not effective until July 1 would "save" the State about $14,000,000 in the current fiscal year, compared with what would have been paid out if the clause were effective December 5 along with the rest of the amendment.

The one-third sales tax diversion to local government, the court said, is effective as of December 5 and the first payment is due March 31, the end of the third quarter of the State's fiscal year.

The revenue department estimated that the first payment would amount to about $17,000,000.

Attorney General Eugene F. Black's contention that the amendment was invalid entirely was rejected, almost summarily, by the court in the unanimous opinion written by Associate Justice Emerson R. Boyles. Justice John R. Dethmers, former attorney general, did not participate.

Denying Black's arguments of flaws in the adoption of the amendment, the court said "we are not unmindful of the fact that a nullity would thwart the expressed will of the voters."

MILLIONS; LANSING
GETS PROBLEM

Lansing, April 8 (P)—Gloom hung over the State capitol today and there was jubilation in city halls and school houses as the State supreme court upheld the sales tax diversion amendment sending millions of dollars into local coffers.

Legislators dribbling into the capitol for their first session since the Easter recess were met with Governor Sigler's flat pronouncement that the court's ruling meant more State taxes for Michigan residents. The governor urged the legislature to go into "high gear" to solve the State's problems.

Legal Issues Involved

State attorneys and fiscal officials huddled over the opinion to determine its effect on a dozen close legal issues arising from the voters' decision of last November that the State must share its sales tax wealth with local government.

Auditor General Muriel K. Allen said probably no payments would be made to local government until the end of the week when he planned a conference with State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner.

The court ordered immediate payment of one-third of the sales tax to municipalities and school districts, an estimated $25,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Sigler Surveys Flood
Damage From Plane

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Kim Sigler flew over Michigan's ravaged flood areas Tuesday in an effort to determine damage done by the now-receding waters.

The governor's aerial inspection tour came after he reached an agreement with striking telephone workers to restore service to Flint, Mt. Clemens and any other "emergency" areas he might designate.

Except at Battle Creek and Saginaw, Michigan's rampaging rivers were returning to their normal beds and thousands of families prepared to trek back to homes damaged by the muddy waters.

The Saginaw, Grand and Battle Creek Rivers still were edging up but the rise was not considered alarming because their tributaries already have passed the flood stage. Authorities at Battle Creek said the city would be safe behind its 16-foot flood wall.

At Kalamazoo, the Kalamazoo River stood only nine inches below its all-time peak of 1904. Several hundred persons were forced from their homes and food was delivered by boat to other marooned houses.

Flint, hardest hit of Michigan cities, was struggling back to normal.

Armed patrols of police and National Guardsmen watched over the downtown flooded district of Flint after one looting incident was reported. Police said looters stole a police boat and made off with a washing machine and refrigerator from a furniture store.

Unofficial estimates were that at least 6,000 families were left homeless by the weekend floods. Of these 2,500 lived in the Lansing area.

A preliminary Red Cross survey indicated that 2,025 homes were damaged by the flood waters. Three deaths were attributed to the disaster and damage was expected to run into million dollar figures.

LIQUOR TOUR CANCELED

Lansing, April 8 (P)—The state liquor control commission today canceled a tour of 19 Michigan cities to conduct hearings on liquor law violations.

The items ranged from grand pianos—more than a dozen of them—to an antique auto, yellowed newspapers and advertising posters, and the jawbone of a horse.

Jackson Beats Derham By 2,000 For Circuit Judge

Atty. Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone was elected judge of the 25th judicial circuit, comprising Delta, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette and Iron counties, in today's election by a margin of more than 2,000 votes over Atty. Jay Derham of Iron Mountain. Jackson was the recipient of a heavy outpouring of votes in his home county, Delta, which gave him a 6,000 vote majority over Iron Mountain man, Derham's home county, Dickinson, voted two to one for its native son, but this advantage along with margins in Iron and Menominee counties were insufficient to stem the Jackson advantage in Delta and Marquette counties. Only six precincts in Marquette county are missing, 149 out of 155 precincts in the 25th judicial circuit having reported by last night. With 35 of 43 reported from Marquette county, Jackson had a margin of 3,200 over his Iron Mountain opponent.

Margin Cut To 2,000

Late returns from seven additional precincts in Marquette county, however, cut Jackson's margin sharply to 2,000 votes, Derham polling 1,500 in those seven precincts, compared with 300 for the Delta county candidate. With only six precincts still out, Jackson's margin was considered adequate to win the contest.

The vote by counties was as follows:

County	Derham	Jackson
Menominee	31-31	3542
Delta	29-29	1556
Iron	22-22	3414
Marquette	42-48	4024
Dickinson	26-26	6261

Methods Of Conducting Survey Will Be Outlined Today

Fredrick W. Olmstead, of the area development division, U. S. Department of Commerce, will conduct a meeting at the Sherman hotel in Escanaba today, at which he will explain the techniques of compiling inventories of industrial assets to attract new industries. The meeting, one of three being held in the Upper Peninsula, is sponsored by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau and the Michigan Planning commission.

Spalding—Theodore Fazer, incumbent supervisor of Spalding township, was reelected in a three-way race that marked the township ballots in Tuesday's biennial spring election. The total vote cast was 697, one of the largest for an off-year election in the township.

The result of the election in the township, with the totals for both precincts, is as follows:

Township Party — Theodore Fazer, supervisor, 271; Charles T. Cory, clerk, 394; Joseph Schetter, treasurer, 197; Adam Murray, board of review, 387; Ray Peterson, 375, and William Bezdek, 331, for justice of the peace.

Peoples Party — Earl Dubois, supervisor, 240; Leo Pietsch, clerk, 225; Walter O'Neill, treasurer, 138; Milton Kell, justice of the peace, 212.

The three-way supervisor race developed because of the slip candidacy of Earl Hupy, who polled 164 votes.

Another slip candidate, Earl St. John, was elected treasurer, polling a total of 333 votes. Maryland was named in honor of Queen Henrietta Maria of England, wife of King Charles I.

The name Vermont is derived from the French "verd mont," meaning green mountains.

NO JURY CASES FOR THIS TERM

Four Respondents Plead
Guilty In Delta
Circuit Court

Four respondents scheduled for trial on criminal charges in Delta county circuit court entered pleas of guilty Tuesday before Judge Frank A. Bell, and as a result there will be no jury trials during this term of court. Jurors scheduled to report Thursday morning for duty will be notified that they will not be needed.

Pleading guilty were: John Desotelle, 42, of Gladstone, who pleaded innocent to a charge of felonious assault in connection with a stabbing in which Desotelle's opponent was wounded. Desotelle later announced that he would change his plea to guilty, thus removing from the calendar the only case scheduled for jury trial.

Louis J. Brunette, 17, of Gladstone, charged with two counts: breaking and entering in the night time, and unlawfully driving away an automobile.

Dwight Arnesen, 20, Gladstone, charged with two counts: unlawfully driving away an automobile and breaking and entering in the night time.

James Beauchamp, Gladstone youth, charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile, and unlawfully driving away an automobile without intent to deprive the owner of his property.

Sentence will be imposed later in the term after the court has conferred with officers and considered the records and characters of the youths.

The court continued to the next term, the case of Jack Bell of Harris, charged with embezzlement; and also continued with bail in effect the case of Thomas D. Norden, charged with breaking and entering in the night time. The charge of non-support against Oliver Desotelle was nolle prosequi following a settlement in the case.

Three jury civil cases were disposed of as follows: Tony F. Pelozo vs. Peter Gagner, settled and dismissed; Roy Chouinard vs. Joe Larson, continued; and Exilda Mineau, administratrix of the estate of the late Mary Beaudry vs. Matchell Boisclair, continued.

Other non-jury civil cases were continued or passed for the time being.

A Notable Victory

THE election of Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone as circuit judge of the 25th judicial district which appears to be conclusive upon the basis of unofficial returns was made possible by the unusually heavy vote in Delta county. Jackson's home county returned a majority of 6141 votes for the Gladstone candidate. From the heavy poll of 9253 votes, exceptional for a spring election, Jackson received 7697 or better than 83 per cent. His neighbors in the City of Gladstone gave him a resounding vote of support, 1796 to 80, the remarkable percentage of better than 95 per cent.

Jackson likewise polled tremendously in the City of Escanaba which delivered 3359 votes for the Gladstone candidate to 697 for his opponent, Ray Deham of Iron Mountain, 84 1/2 per cent of the total being recorded for Jackson. The turnout in Escanaba is all the more remarkable in view of the fact that there was no other contest of compelling importance to the Escanaba voters.

The Jackson for Judge committee, in short, did an outstanding job in bringing the importance of this election to the voters and in organizing the campaign to get out the vote. Every attorney in Delta county supported Jackson's candidacy enthusiastically and vigorously, presenting a solid front which obviously was effective not only in Delta county but in other counties of the district as well.

The electors of the 25th judicial district have made a wise choice. Glenn Jackson will serve the judicial circuit competently and with propriety.

The election campaign for the judgeship has been fought vigorously by both sides, perhaps even too enthusiastically at times in view of the extreme dignity of the office, but all that is past. The decision has been made; no rancor or bitterness can remain.

Henry Ford Is Dead

FEW Americans have made a greater contribution to the advancement of mankind than Henry Ford, the industrial genius who died last Monday night at the age of 83.

It was Henry Ford, more than any other man, who gave to the world its most important mode of transportation, the automobile, and the world's greatest manufacturing industry. Literally, Henry Ford put the world on wheels and in so doing, built a manufacturing dynasty, family owned, valued at a billion dollars.

The growth and development of the industrial might of the United States can be traced directly to the growth of the Ford Motor company, for it was Ford who conceived the idea of mass production of a commodity to bring the cost within the level of the means of the average man. That theory which Henry Ford fostered still stands today as the basis of the American capitalist system and built American industry far in the forefront of world leadership. It is, in fact, the philosophy that has broadened the standard of living of the American people, and the sole hope for raising the living standards of the entire world.

Ford gave to the world more than an industrial dynasty, however. He believed that work was the essence of prosperity and he proved his point, even though substantial forces within his own country turned away from that viewpoint to develop the New Deal theory of governmental paternalism as a substitute for labor.

Henry Ford is dead, but through his long life he fashioned an imprint upon history as bold and deep as any man.

The Greatest Problem

THE great challenge to the statesmanship of our time is how to restore Germany's economy, and at the same time prevent its ever being used again for aggression," says Raymond Daniell in the New York Times.

"There could be no graver error than to believe that the German people have learned a lesson from their defeat, and that they can be left in sole control of what is even today a tremendous war-making potential, temporarily out of gear," continues Mr. Daniell, writing from Düsseldorf.

"Today Germany is bankrupt, living to a large extent on the charity of her conquerors. Two years after Germany's unconditional surrender, it is costing Britain and the United States 600 million dollars a year to feed and supply the German people with the necessities of life. And the temporarily crippled, dormant industry of Germany has left an economic vacuum in Europe.

"There is little or no evidence that they have been won to the democratic way of life, and virtually none that they have learned that war does not pay. They are sorry for themselves, but they are not remorseful about anything else say, perhaps, that they have lost the war. They are a one-track mind people, and they are obsessed with their own worries to the point of a collective persecution complex. At least one German in every ten has been determined by a scientific sampling of public opinion to be a confirmed, unregenerate and irredeemable Nazi at heart. The great bulk of the German people is awaiting the emergence of a new 'strong man' who will tell them what to do."

This is a pretty kettle of fish for a nation that calls itself civilized and that claims a place in an enlightened world. What to do with Germany is fast becoming as tough a problem as the banishing of war itself.

Juvenile Crime is Rising

A 16 YEAR old St. Joseph, Missouri youth had admitted the hammer slaying of an aged church sexton, his only motive being that he was impelled by a "sudden urge to kill."

Unfortunately, this is not an isolated case. The incidence of brutal murder by youngsters still in their teens is rising alarmingly and we cannot help but wonder to what extent the epidemic of crime comics and crime radio dramas is responsible.

Even conceding that the trend in crime dramas has changed since the gaudy days of gangster mobs with modern emphasis upon glorification of the cop instead of the robber, the plain fact is that crime still constitutes the basis for so much of youth's entertainment. There remains the constant challenge to youth's fertile mind to improve on the crime and to outwit the detective.

The horrid radio dramas, with their piercing shrieks and eerie sound effects, undoubtedly have an abnormal effect on a youth's nervous system and even though they attempt to preach the doctrine that crime doesn't pay, they are unwittingly, perhaps, contributing to the mounting incidence of juvenile crime.

The fantastic crime comic books are equally guilty of this charge. The fantasies of the comic books are, to use the jargon of modern youth, "out of this world." They have no semblance of reality and many of the comic strip artists are competing with each other to create the most horrid and terrifying ogres of crime.

The radio and the publications can be of great benefit in helping to shape the adolescent minds of youth to constructive character, but they can never achieve this result by continuing to offer the trash that they are now presenting for youth entertainment.

DRUNKEN DRIVING (Marquette Mining Journal)

Anyone who wonders why so much emphasis has been placed by the state police on "publicizing" and instruction in the use of the intoximeter, a device used to test the condition of accident-involved automobile drivers suspected of being drunk, has only to give thought to official records which show that in the last eight years 649 persons have been killed and more than 21,000 injured in traffic accidents in the Upper Peninsula.

A large percentage of those fatalities and injuries were the result of drunken driving. We read about traffic accidents and drunken driving cases from day to day, but few of us realize how heavy the toll is in death and injury until the record for a year or period of years is called to our attention.

The totals for the 15 counties in the Upper Peninsula will, it is certain, be startling to many citizens and the human damage, misery and economic loss they represent leave no room for questioning the necessity of adopting any and all possible means of reducing the number of accidents and improving traffic control. Law enforcement is, of course, a big factor. So far as drunken driving is concerned it is the most important.

The state police have decided to use the intoximeter in drunken driving cases after careful study of results attained in extensive tests. They believe it will cut the number of accidents caused by drinking drivers and here appears to be good reason for their decision. To make it as effective as possible they have gone to some lengths to instruct not only the troopers, but law enforcement officers of cities and counties in the use of the device. It also has been explained to prosecuting attorneys, justices of the peace and judges of municipal and circuit courts. All of these officers, it may be assumed, understand clearly the purposes of the move and will cooperate in this laudable police effort to save lives and limbs on our highways.

WORDS TO WATCH

A peculiar speech fault is going the rounds, and we should be on guard against it, especially these of us who do any sort of public speaking — teachers, ministers, lawyers, broadcasters, club people, etc. The fault consists of an intrusive "yoo" sound in words in which "yoo" should never be heard. For example, similar becomes "SIM-yoo-ler," percolate is "PER-koyoo-late," schedule is "SKEDGE-yoo-ull," substantial is "sub-STAN-choo-ull," essential is "eeSEN-choo-ull."

By no means is this bad habit confined to people of poor education. It is heard regularly in some pretty high places. For instance, one of America's leading commentators, a man who is noted for the accuracy of his speech, always pronounces schedule with three distinct syllables, as, "SKEDGE-yoo-ull," as if the word were spelled "scheidung."

Another broadcaster, especially well known on the West Coast, invariably pronounces substantial as "sub-STAN-choo-ull."

I am unable to account for the intrusive "yoo" (or "oo") sound in these words. Perhaps it results from false association with

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—At one point in his Jefferson day speech, President Truman sounded a note that was strongly reminiscent of the past. Proclaiming the present record level of prosperity and employment, Mr. Truman seemed to echo Herbert Hoover's proud boast of 1928 and the first half of 1929.

While he did not claim the current prosperity for himself or his party, as Hoover did in that earlier time, this was nevertheless implied in what was a skillful political speech. If the present prosperity lasts through 1948, it will certainly be the major theme in the Truman campaign for re-election.

—CAL WITH A GRIN—

A Republican senator in conversation the other day referred to Mr. Truman as "Calvin Coolidge With a Grin." While this was intended in half-humorous disparagement of the President, it is not entirely beside the mark. The President and the men around him want to present to the world the appearance of a man who stands by his principles but does not go out of his way to seek political trouble.

The $64 question for 1948 is how long the present boom will endure. If it carries through November of next year, what was considered impossible six months ago may come to pass and Mr. Truman may be re-elected for a four-year term.

Having stressed the theme of prosperity, Mr. Truman, later in his address to Democrats who had paid $100 a plate to hear him, threw in a warning note. He expressed "My Deep Concern" over the level of prices prevailing today. "A system of free enterprise does not automatically work out its own adjustments without our giving thought to the process."

It was as though a paragraph or two out of another speech had been pasted into the Jefferson day address by mistake. For earlier Mr. Truman had spoken in ringing praise of the free enterprise system, chiding those whose lack of confidence led them to predict something less than the present prosperity wave.

With the main theme of the President's address, even the most carping Republicans found it hard to quarrel. That is that America must be strong in order to shoulder the tremendous responsibility which is ours in the world today. That cannot be said often enough and with the clarity and firmness with which Mr. Truman said it.

—A POLITICAL SPEECH—

Perhaps because it was, in the broader sense, a political speech, the President was privileged to ignore the paradox in American policy. The responsibility ahead of us cannot be measured by Greece and Turkey. The bounds of that responsibility are so much greater that most of us have not even begun to face up to it.

Yet we propose to meet those overwhelming obligations out of a completely uncontrolled economy. When Herbert Hoover returned from Germany with his recommendation that we send more food, the first reaction was a speculative boom in grain that sent wheat to $3 a bushel.

Most controls were thrown overboard after V-J day. Lend-lease was dropped with a hasty disregard for consequences that we shall certainly regret. In this unseemly haste to get back to normalcy there was no recognition that the world had utterly changed. It ignored the fact that if there was to be stability, then we, more than any other nation, would have to contribute to it.

Again since it was a political speech, the President was perhaps under no compulsion to point out that the present is a period of pause. England and, to a lesser degree, western Europe are living on the memory of the past and a hope for the future. That will not continue indefinitely. In fact, one can see the end fairly clearly in view.

In this period of pause the President's stock is rising again. That has been one of the most interesting phenomena of his tenancy of the White House.

The Truman stock was undergone violent fluctuations in the market of opinion. In July of 1945, his approval rating stood at 85 per cent. Last fall it was down to 32 per cent. Today it is above 60 per cent.

Obviously these fluctuations are related not so much to what Mr. Truman does or does not do as they are to the state of the nation. Last fall there was widespread discontent over shortages and rising prices, and Mr. Truman was the only scapegoat in sight. Today the Republicans offer themselves as a prominent target.

If a year from now Mr. Truman can again proclaim American prosperity, it will mean that the major decisions have been postponed for another 12 months. And this may in turn have a lot to do with the decision on Mr. Truman's personal future.

A Texas man found his missing wife in a restaurant getting paid for cooking. Men, don't show this to yours!

Some optimists are just too lazy to kick.

AN OPEN WINTER—George H. Wiltzie, who is proprietor of a poultry farm near Escanaba, writes that he recalls when this area really had an "open winter." Contrary to many early-day residents, Mr. Wiltzie's story is about a winter that was warm, rather than a winter that was colder than "any you ever see these days." He writes:

"I see by the Daily Press that the earliest opening of Escanaba's port to navigation was in 1878. Really navigation didn't close during the winter of 1877-78. We lived across the bay that winter and some of us crossed the bay in a boat sometime during each month of the winter. Any little snow that fell usually melted off in a day or so, and there was no sleigh hauling during the entire winter."

SOUNDED WONDERFUL — A friend tells us that Art Jensen is still chuckling over the success of his recent practical joke, perpetrated with the assistance of a record player at the Kresge store.

Art is a member of the local unit of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America—a unit which is preparing to have some of its more accomplished quartets make their public debut. One of the quartets recently made a recording at the high school, probably in an effort to determine how far it had progressed. This recording was taken by Art to Kresge's store and played during the morning coffee hour.

Sitting next to Art at the coffee counter were B. V. Sonnent of Wards, and Jim Jackson of the Penny store. Both men were mightily impressed with the quality of the singing—and Jim wanted to purchase the record.

GOOD NEIGHBOR — In the mail today is a letter from Quito, Ecuador, South America. It offers "Free Orchids to You," says that for a ten cent coin "to help defray cost of collecting, handling, packing and mailing."

If a year from now Mr. Truman can again proclaim American prosperity, it will mean that the major decisions have been postponed for another 12 months. And this may in turn have a lot to do with the decision on Mr. Truman's personal future.

INTO THE PAST

—By WS Bureau

Ten Years Ago
Lansing—A bill presented by Rep. Frank C. Priest, Republican, Manicella, sought today to abolish the time-honored political practice of compelling state employees to contribute to the campaign funds of the parties through which they obtained their jobs.

Condemning them as "one-armed burglars," Chief of Police Mike Ettenhofer yesterday ordered the seizure of four slot machines in the city of Escanaba.

Detroit—The nation's automobile industry, strike-less for the first time in five months, headed for high production levels again tonight.

Pressed hard by four ore freighters, anxiously waiting to get their holds filled with precious ore for which steel mills are clamoring, the coast guard cutter Escanaba yesterday fought exceedingly difficult ice conditions and advanced only about two miles in Little Bay de Noc.

Twenty Years Ago
Kansas City, Mo.—With thousands of acres of farm lands already under water, other thousands were threatened with inundation tonight in extreme south-east Kansas where the Verdigris and Neosho rivers were already reaching the point where spill waters over the countryside.

The Orle chorus, which will appear in a concert in the Ev. Lutheran Bethany church of this city Friday, April 22, is not a mediocre college club. This chorus is not satisfied merely with the rendition of a few peppy, catch college songs.

When the University of Michigan band comes to Escanaba on April 16, Mayor Robert A. Campbell of Ann Arbor will accompany the college students in the capacity of faculty advisor.

of slabs with the bark still on them look artistic, but an old straw hat tacked to a wall may serve as well.

Best locations have nearby shrubbery where the male can perch and sing. And care should be taken that fledglings are not easy prey for housecats.

WHERE THEY BUILD—Perhaps we might add that many people have their attention forcibly directed to the bird housing shortage.

You know or have read of robins building nests in mail boxes, or in a broken street lamp globe. We knew of one man who was without his pair of overalls most of one summer because a pair of wrens started building a nest in the pocket while they were drying on the line. The housewife refused to disrupt their homemaking—and the husband got his overalls back when the young birds flew out of his pockets.

TELEPHONE STRIKE —Monday morning when you picked up the receiver of your telephone you heard a man's voice say to this effect: "This is a recording. We are sorry, but because of the telephone strike only emergency calls are being received. If you have an emergency call, flash the operator and your call will be taken care of."

In Escanaba it wasn't long before women were lifting the receiver from the hook just to hear that voice—it was so beautiful. Some of the ladies thanked the recording, a disembodied voice in wax. Others listened in on their phone to hear the voice repeating its little message. Because the line was open (that is, connected with other incoming calls) they could hear babies crying or vacuum cleaners going in the background as other persons listened.

One Escanaba woman, who needed a repair man for a faulty electrical appliance, listened to the recorded voice and then replied politely:

"Oh, that's all right. It's not a real emergency. I just wanted to get someone to come over and fix my toaster."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—The main outline of the new labor bill has now been fixed by the Senate Labor committee after several weeks of backstage battling. The last battle took place in a secret strategy meeting by Republican members at which Senator Bob Taft amazed some of his colleagues while Oregon's forthright Wayne Morse amazed others.

Main discussion at the secret meeting centered on the position President Truman might take on different provisions of the labor bill, a catchall measure which includes a variety of regulations, among them a ban on the closed shop.

Chairman Taft hitherto has indicated that he is for a mild labor bill, aimed chiefly at curbing jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts, and requiring labor unions to reveal their finances. And at the recent meeting, Taft remarked that Truman was certain to veto a tougher bill, especially one outlawing the closed shop.

In view of the telephone crisis and John L. Lewis' "mourning" walkout in the coal mines, however, Taft and a majority of the committee decided that a tough bill was needed to head off further work stoppages.

The senators who took the lead in this were Taft, Joe Ball of Minnesota, and William Jenner of Indiana. They took the position: "Let Truman Veto It If He Wants To."

Next question was—Could a two-thirds vote be mustered to override the veto? It was decided that this was unlikely, barring a crippling wave of strikes. However, this possibility didn't seem to bother the Taft-Ball-Jenner trio. All three argued that if a labor bill couldn't be passed over the President's head, then Truman himself would be held accountable for blocking "Effective Labor Legislation."

—PUBLIC COMES FIRST—

At this point, Oregon's young Senator Morse took off his gloves.

"I'm not interested in Republican strategy," he remarked sharply, "and I'm not interested in playing politics on such a vital issue as this. I am interested in legislation to promote the public welfare."

While Taft, Ball, and Jenner looked a little stunned, the Oregonian continued: "To my mind, it's important that we get some bill through Congress, dealing with certain urgent problems, that the President will sign, rather than end up with no legislation at all."

"Take a bill outlawing the jurisdictional strike and the secondary boycott. I can't imagine the President's not signing that."

"Take a bill that would set up an efficient mediation and conciliation service under an independent board. The President might not sign it, but I would like to see it pass and put him to the test. I'm for treating these issues separately. If you lump everything together, including the ban on the closed shop, you are going to wind up with nothing at all."

"In that case," Morse concluded, "You invite a presidential veto, without the votes to override a veto."

Morse didn't increase his popularity by speaking his mind. Men who speak their minds usually don't. But even though they outvoted him, he did give Republican colleagues considerable food for thought.

—PHONE STRIKE ISSUE—

One disagreement in the current telephone controversy is over fixing wages on a nation-wide scale as favored by the union, or fixing them locality-by-locality, as favored by the company. The company argues that the cost of living in Middletown, Md., for instance, is lower than in New York City, and wages should vary accordingly.

Most Republicans, not realizing this vital issue in many labor disputes, chortled with glee when Oklahoma's Representative George Schwabe jumped up in the House the other day and moved to slice another $1,000,000 off the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Overwhelmingly and enthusiastically, GOP colleagues supported him. This, plus previous cuts, whittled the Bureau of Labor Statistics down to almost one third its normal appropriation and means that it can no longer ascertain the cost of living region by region for use in nation-wide strikes.

Republicans who applied the meat-axe also thought they were pruning a New Deal agency. Actually, the B. L. S. was voted into existence by Republican President Arthur in 1884. There is nothing New Deal about it.

Last summer, when Senators Taft, Wherry, et al led the GOP attack on price controls, they argued that if they were wrong and prices were up instead of down, it would be possible for Congress to note the cost of living barometer and remedy the situation.

But when Republicans chopped the B. L. S. from $6,700,000 down to $2,373,400, it was like a criminal disposing of the evidence of his crime. In other words, with the Bureau of Labor Statistics gutted, there will be no official way to ascertain how far Taft and Wherry are right or wrong—except by guesswork.

In addition, the fact is that 90 per cent of all union contracts are still based upon cost-of-living levels according to local regions, rather than on a national scale. And critics of labor want to keep things that way.

Thus, Oklahoma's Congressman Schwabe and his impulsive colleagues may have played right into the hands of labor rather than otherwise. Certainly their action strengthens the telephone workers who want to bargain nationally, and hurts the telephone company which wants to bargain locally.

If you have no intention of paying back, borrow nothing but trouble.

With prices where they are, the smart home garden will be all vegetables and a yard wide.

Comedy Is Next For "Thursday At Eight"

For the 13th in the series of radio dramatizations, Civic Theatre will present on its "Thursday at Eight" broadcast the sophisticated comedy, "Stand-in for a Butler" by Kurt Ueberschach.

The story concerns a Park avenue family caught with its purse-strings defunct which nevertheless does not hinder them from creating "the grand impression." Romances conceived to remedy the financial predicament heighten the comedy and give versatile roles to the cast of characters.

Mac Danielson will take the lead as the romantic actor, Randolph Carter, who tries to convince his producer, Sam Blunt, played by Percy Weinberg, of his ability to play supporting roles as a release from his romantic ventures.

Polly Rolls, the Parke Avenue pauper, is the role of Mary Roberts. Mrs. Rolls, the mother, will be played by Thelma Eversole.

Prince Alex, a phony but comical, will be interpreted by Gordon Flath, who will also direct the performance. Gardner Eversole will be heard as the bartender and clerk.

Margaret Gilbert will supervise music for the broadcast. Helen Masterson will be control room director and Betty Bisdie will furnish sound effects. Earl Flaggstad will announce the program.

Fishermen Saved Off Bayfield, Wis. By Coast Guard

Duluth, Minn., April 8 (AP)—Coast Guardsmen today rescued three commercial fishermen whose vessel was marooned in shifting ice off Bayfield, Wis., and will send a plane aloft Wednesday to hunt a second trio unreported since their vessel left that Wisconsin port Saturday.

Coast Guard headquarters here said the vessels apparently were trapped Saturday during a north-easterly gale which packed the shifting flows into the Apostle Islands area.

The trio saved was taken from the 40-foot vessel Marie, which had been caught in the ice between Michigan and Madeline Island, officers of the Woodruff said. The men, suffering from exposure, were put ashore on Madeline Island, after the cutter had plowed its way through jammed flows to the marooned vessel.

The second boat, the Liberty, has been unreported since it left Bayfield four days ago, the Coast Guard said. It was not sighted during the Woodruff's mercy mission today.

The government vessel had to be withdrawn from the search to night in order to carry fuel to a second Coast Guard cutter trapped in the ice at Whitefish Bay at the eastern end of Lake Superior, officials said.

Pastor's Son, 16, Chuckles At News Stories Of Murder

St. Joseph, Mo., April 8 (AP)—Stuart B. Allen, 16-year-old adopted son of a minister, smiled calmly today as he was ordered held without bond for trial in juvenile court for the hammer murder of John Frank, 58-year-old sexton of his father's church.

Arraigned on a charge of first degree murder, the youth maintained the air of indifference he has shown since he signed a statement yesterday, in which police said, that he admitted he had killed the sexton April 1, in the church basement because he felt "an urge to kill some one."

Before the arraignment, young Allen said he would like to see the morning papers. He chuckled when he saw his picture on the front page. Pointing to a photograph taken in the chief of detectives' office, he asked: "Did I really look that serious?"

Neither his foster father, the Rev. James S. Allen, rector of Christ Episcopal church, nor any other relative was in the tiny courtroom.

Passengers Shaken Up In Pennsylvania Railroad Collision

Canton, O., April 8 (AP)—Two engines and six of 14 cars of the Pennsylvania Railroad's Chicago to New York Manhattan limited were derailed here tonight after colliding with a freight train but 250 passengers were only slightly shaken up.

Four fire companies rushed to the scene and quickly extinguished fires under the passenger cars and in three box cars. The fires were started by hot coals from the limited's engines.

The passenger cars remained upright, straddling the ties, and the majority of the passengers remained sitting in their seats. There was little confusion.

Passenger Conductor C. W. Lynk, in the seventh car, said there was not much of a jar because the train had just left the Canton station and had not picked up any speed.

When the accident occurred, both trains were proceeding in the same direction on neighboring tracks. Trainmen believed the accident happened when a swaying box car leaned over too far and was struck by the first of the passenger engines. Only three box cars left the rails and were knocked flat along the siding.

Chicago Kidnaping Of 1945 Cleared; Girl, 5, Found Safe

Chicago, April 8 (AP)—Chief of Detectives Walter Storms said today that an ex-convict, sought since June 17, 1945, for the alleged kidnaping here of three-year-old Mary Ann Kubon, had been arrested in New Orleans where the child was found safe.

Storms said the New Orleans office of the FBI reported that Mary Ann was found in the company of William G. Fuller, 41, and his wife. The former convict was charged with kidnaping June 29, 1945 and he was sought throughout the country by the FBI on charges of unlawful flight.

Storms said that Fuller and his wife, who staged a roller-skating act, had been sought through owners of roller skating rinks throughout the country. Recently, Storms said, it was learned that Fuller had purchased an expensive pair of skates in New York City for a child of five, possibly to include the girl in the act.

The Fullers, Storms said, traveled about the country, skating at rinks, and giving instructions in roller skating.

FORD FUNERAL WILL BE HELD ON THURSDAY

Ford plants sent its "sincere condolences" to the family but withheld further comment.

Ford, born on a farm near Dearborn on July 30, 1863, became one of the world's best known figures.

In practically any hamlet of the civilized world the name of Henry Ford was paraphrased in a dozen tongues as a symbol of the United States.

As a boy he disregarded the hopes of a well-to-do father who wanted to make him a farmer like himself.

At 16, he left the farm and trudged a dusty road to the sleepy city of Detroit where the horse and buggy were the mode of the times.

His first job in a machine shop paid him $2.50 a week, less than his room and board. So he augmented it by working nights.

From that beginning came a man with a sound, basic knowledge of mechanics, a shrewd sense of the value of money and a serene self-confidence that led him to confide in later years that he never worried about anything in his life except his wife's well-being.

He and Mrs. Ford, a childhood playmate, were married April 11, 1888, and their devotion remained steadfast to the moment of his death.

From the time young Ford took a reporter with him for a ride in his first gasoline buggy, he remained a newsworthy and highly controversial figure. His fame gradually spreading from Detroit to Michigan, to the nation and to the world.

Planned Trip Tuesday

Among many high points in his life were his successful battle in the Selden patent suit in 1911 the auto industry; his introduction in 1914 of the unheard-of minimum of $5 per day; his 1915 peace ship to Europe in a futile attempt to halt World War I; and his post-war battles with Wall Street for outright control of the Ford company.

Ford returned last week from his annual visit to his Georgia estate and his death was quiet and sudden.

Associates described him as in seemingly perfect health Monday when he rode to Greenfield Village to inspect damage caused by the same flood that darkened his home. Later he went to the huge Rouge plant nearby to inspect a new ore boat.

He returned home after planning a 100-mile trip today for further inspection of flood damage. He said he would be ready to start at 8 a. m.

Ford retired about 9 p. m. two hours and 15 minutes later, Mrs. Ford came to his side after hearing him call. He told her his head ached, his throat was dry and he felt "bad."

She gave him a glass of water, then sent the family chauffeur to a telephone at Ford Engineering Laboratories half a mile away. The house phones, operated privately, were dead because of the flood.

Dr. John G. Mateer of Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit, responded to the chauffeur's call and drove the few miles west of Detroit to Dearborn, arriving at 11:40 p. m.

He found Henry Ford dead.

Grand Larceny

For the last couple of weeks on the new Milton Berle show (N. B. C. 8 p. m. Tuesdays), the announcer, man named Gallup, has been introducing much against the wishes of Mr. Berle, a quartet with a high-flown, Russian name, "Stop that noise!" shrieks Mr. Berle. "Quiet!" All season on the Jack Benny show, another announcer named Don Wilson has been bringing in, much against the wishes of Mr. Benny, another quartet. "Stop it," yells Mr. Benny. "Stop it."

Later on the Berle program, the orchestra played a truncated version of "Blue Skies." "That was 'Blue Skies,'" announced Mr. Berle. "Sort of an eclipse—by Ray Bloch and his orchestra. The only reason they still have their instru-

Icebreaker Helps Boats At Straits, Opens Soo Passage

Chicago, April 8 (AP)—The U. S. Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinaw has safely escorted 30 vessels through the ice-chattered Straits of Mackinac, a step toward the opening of spring navigation on the Great Lakes, the Coast Guard here said today.

Capt. Nathaniel Fulford, senior Coast Guard officer here, said the Mackinaw had been butting through flows of field and pancake ice in the Straits and upper lake, but that the field ice was deteriorating rapidly and that several points were open, including Green Bay, Wis.; Escanaba, Mich.; Rogers City, Mich., and Sandusky, O.

The Mackinaw is currently under way for the Soo to clear passage tomorrow from Lake Lake Superior.

ments is that Jamaica Park isn't open yet."

Well, let's see now. Way back last fall, if memory serves, Fred Allen interrupted the orchestra with the words: "That was just a smattering of 'Chattanooga Choo Choo' played by Al Goodman and twenty-five men who followed him home from Belmont Park last night."

Jack Benny has for years been kidding his announcer, Don Wilson, about his sumptuous waistline. Berle jibes at his announcer, that man Gallup again, because his waistline is so skinny. A switcheroo, as they call it in radio. Then there is a man in the show called Fulton Drew Gilbert "bringing you the news from Washington" and contradicting himself in every sentence. It's pretty funny and it was pretty funny a couple of weeks ago when Peter Lind Hayes did it on the Dinah Shore show.

And so it goes. If you can find anything on the Milton Berle show which doesn't remind you of somebody else's show, don't blame Milton. He's doing his best. Over the years, Berle has built up a towering and quite justifiable reputation as the Raffles of show business and he's not going to risk it by fooling around with any dangerous originality. Just the same, in spite of all his vigilance, I'll bet a new idea slips in there some day. A man can't keep his guard up forever.

Apart from grand larceny, the Berle show is a great improvement over the Rudy Vallee show which it replaced, though that's not much of a compliment. Berle plays the part of a timid soul who is browbeaten by his announcer, his wife, his child, his sponsor and his advertising agency. Making the star the butt of all jokes is hardly a new idea, but Berle goes considerably further with it than any one else. He is not just insulted; he is lampooned, derided, degraded, starved and all but beaten to death by the people around him. Much of this is funnier than it ought to be because Berle, a man of the old school, is a great performer no matter what you think of his material.

However, I'd like to interject a note of mild protest about the sketches that end the show. The other day Berle did a sketch about a man who drives into a gas station in a hurry for gas. The attendants—stop me if you've heard this—clean the windshield, change the oil, pump up the tires, marcel his hair, put on a floor show, do everything, in fact, except give him gas. Well, it had a certain vestigial charm if only as a reminder of the good old days. But isn't there a statute of limitation on these things?

Oh, yes, and there's a singer on the program named Dick Farney, who sings in a soft, tentative style as if he were afraid of waking the baby. Sometimes I think singing is dying out entirely and perhaps it's just as well.

Statistics Show
Age Groups Of
Alger Unemployed

Walter C. Meyland, local office manager of the Michigan Employment Service, said yesterday that out of a total of 566 persons actively seeking work in Alger county, 43 were under 21 years of age; 282 were between the ages of 21 to 35; 70 of this group between the ages of 36 to 45; 66 in the 46 to 60 age group and a total of 45 applicants over 60 years of age.

This first breakdown of active applicants according to age groups shows that some 70 per cent of all applicants are between the ages of 21 and 45 and 22 per cent are over 45. This latter condition is somewhat abnormal, Meyland said, due to the great number of presently unemployed woods workers and among whom are a fairly high number of older men. Over 55 per cent of all applicants are between the ages of 21 and 35.

Above statistics are compiled on a monthly basis for the U. S. Department of Labor. Compilation is then made on a national scale for a clear cut picture of the employment situation existing in this country.

NEW HOSPITAL
A CERTAINTYBonding Issue Carries
Every Precinct By Big Majority

Schoolcraft county's bid for a community hospital was accepted by the voters in an impressive manner.

By a vote of 1502 to 280 the proposal to bond the county for $150,000 and levy a five and one-half mill tax to provide payment, the voters registered their approval. And to further facilitate the building of the hospital, electors voted 1752 to 482 in favor of permitting the tax limitations increase for a five-year period in order to secure revenue to cover the bond issue.

The vote was unusually heavy for this time of the year, the city vote being about 60 per cent of the polling list, a factor indicating the intense interest in the hospital issue.

Merwin Retains Office

Voting on bonds required a majority vote, but voting was restricted to actual taxpayers. The tax limitation increase measure was open to all voters, but required a two-thirds vote for passage.

The only other contest in which there was considerable local interest was that between Ralph H. Merwin and Harold Labby for judge of probate. By a vote of 1345 to 792, Merwin retains the office to which he was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge John J. Hruska.

In rural areas election of township officers held the spotlight. There were only two upsets. In Manistique township, Herbert Burns defeated William Rodman, incumbent, for supervisor and in Mueller township, Arthur Anderson outdistanced William Heminger, incumbent, for clerk.

Sticker Candidate Wins Burns accomplished the unusual by winning the election via the sticker route. Defeated in the February primaries, he staged a comeback, winning by 13 votes.

As a result of this and the primary election, there will be four new members of the county board of supervisors. They are Ovid Swisher, Germfask, who replaces Frank Conlin; Wells Bowers, Mueller, who succeeds William Tennyson; Floyd Sample, Thompson, who succeeds Cecil Johnson; and Herbert Burns, Manistique township, who replaced Rodman.

POW Architects
Plan New Church

London—(AP)—German architects, prisoners of war at a camp near Sheffield, Yorkshire, have prepared four sets of plans for the rebuilding of a Sheffield church destroyed in air raids in 1940.

The plans are on show in an exhibition of Architects' Plans and Drawings for Churches which the Sheffield diocese proposes to build through its "Church in Action" campaign.

Opening the exhibition, Lord Halifax, former British ambassador to the U.S., said he thought the Germans' plans a good contribution.

City Basketball Tournament Opens In Junior High Gymnasium

TWO GAMES ON CARD TONIGHT

Mike's Five Battles Gladstone; Oberg's Meets St. Ann

With six fast teams of the Escanaba city league participating for top honors, the city basketball tournament will get underway at 7:30 this evening in the Escanaba junior high school gymnasium.

Mike's Bar and Gladstone will open the annual classic, and Oberg's quintet will tangle with the St. Ann's CYO aggregation in the second game on tonight's card. The tipoff for the latter tilt is slated for 8:45.

Following the opening clashes, the tournament will recess until next Tuesday evening when the Veterans of Foreign Wars crew, which drew a bye in the first round, will meet the winner of the Mike's Bar-Gladstone fray in the second round of semi-final games of the upper bracket.

The second game next Tuesday night will find the strong Bark River Tom Swifts, Northern Lakes league champion, tangle with the winner of the Oberg-St. Ann CYO encounter. The finals will be held at 8 Thursday night, April 17.

Ray "Dude" Ranguette and Dick Schram, Escanaba, will officiate. The tournament is being conducted by Cliff Frasher and George Grenholm, recreation impresarios of the community.

BETZ, COOKE ARE SUSPENDED

Crackdown By USLTA On Women Net Aces Without Precedent

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, April 8 (AP)—Pauline Betz, the world's reigning tennis queen, and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, twice former national titleholder, were suspended from amateur play by the U. S. Lawn Tennis association today in a crackdown without precedent in the game.

The two stars, first women ever to receive such drastic treatment from the American body, were deprived of their amateur status because of a letter sent by Mrs. Cooke's husband, Elwood Cooke, to clubs here and abroad offering to display the pair in exhibition matches at fees ranging from $350 to $500.

Miss Betz, holder both of the U. S. and All-England championships, was notified by cable at Monte Carlo of her suspension, pending final action by the executive committee of the U.S.L.T.A.

Can't Defend Title
As the latter body is not scheduled to meet here until September, Miss Betz will be unable to compete either in the Wightman Cup matches against England this summer or to defend her national title at Forest Hills late in August. There is certain to be a new champion.

The official suspension of Mrs. Cooke came as something of a surprise. After winning her second national title in 1945, the former Boston girl announced her "retirement" from amateur play and did not defend her crown last year. President Holcombe Ward of the Tennis association said today, however, that that body had never removed her name from the amateur roles.

"Until the present incident arose, there had been no complaints to us that she had violated the amateur rules," he said.

Hadn't Made Up Mind
In its cable to Miss Betz today, the U.S.L.T.A. said:

"On April 2 we cabled you regarding letter from Elwood Cooke of Sports Tours dated March 21 soliciting professional tennis engagements for you. We requested your prompt reply. We have no alternative but to suspend you from all amateur competition pending final action by the executive committee."

Miss Cooke was advised of the association's action by letter to her home here.
Miss Betz told the Associated Press in Monte Carlo yesterday that she had "not yet made up her mind" whether she would turn professional, and she would not, in any case, reach a decision until she returned to this country. She said she planned to take a 10-day vacation in Switzerland.

NO DECISION ON APPEAL

New York, April 8 (AP)—Sarah Palfrey Cooke, former national women's tennis champion, said today that no decision on a possible appeal of the suspension handed her and Pauline Betz by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association would be made until word comes from Miss Betz, now in Europe.

"I'm sure she didn't realize just contemplating a tour would be enough to cause her suspension. In fact, it didn't occur to any of us. It's hard for me to understand because the association has known about the tour ever since we started planning it at the national indoor tournament a month ago."

Escanabans Score High In Peninsula Elks Bowling Meet

Four Escanaba teams, one doubles combination and three singles contestants from this city wound up near the top in final standings of the Upper Peninsula all-Elks bowling tournament concluded on the Shoreland and Elks lanes in Marquette last weekend.

Jack Knoel, Ishpeming kegler, won individual honors with firsts in singles and all-events on counts of 653 and 1,856, respectively. Johnny Boyle, E. Larson and J. Lavolette were third, sixth and fourth, respectively, in the singles.

The Escanaba Five Spots, Peddler's Hounds and Penn Specials were third, fourth, seventh and fourteenth, in that order, in the five-man event, and W. Curtis and T. Kibby, Escanaba, had the only honor here in doubles, scoring 1,149 for 2,966.

The Ironwood Lazers hit 2,966 for five-man first, and the Bessemer duo of Ed Rodd and L. Macconi copped the doubles with 1,254.

PRO QUINTETS IN SEMIFINALS

Oshkosh All-Stars Meet Indianapolis Five; Finals Thursday

Chicago, April 8 (AP)—Four National Basketball League teams, including the Fort Wayne, Ind., Zollners, defending champions, rested tonight while awaiting resumption of the invitational pro league tournament in Chicago Stadium.

The opening game of tomorrow's semi-finals will send the Oshkosh, Wis., All Stars against the Indianapolis Kautzky's at 8:15 p. m. CST. The Toledo Jeeps tangle with the Zollners in the second game.

The winners will meet Thursday night for the championship and the losers will play for third place.

The Jeeps eliminated Dow Chemical of Midland, Mich., a strong independent club, 59-55, to become the fourth NBL team to enter the semi-finals. Fort Wayne defeated the Anderson, Ind., Packers, 52-40, in the quarter-final test, while the Kautzky's beat the Moline, Ill., Tri-City Blackhawks 65-56 and Oshkosh downed the Sheboygan, Wis., Redskins 53-44.

BABE RUTH RESTING

Newark, N. J., April 8 (AP)—Babe Ruth took off today aboard a Miami bound airplane plane for two weeks of "resting and fishing" in Florida. The former home run king planned the rest prior to taking up his duties as consultant to the American Legion junior baseball program. He is recovering from a serious neck operation performed last Jan. 6.

Maytag Takes Early Lead In City Bowling Tourney

The Maytag quintet went into the top spot by the slender margin of two pins in the city bowling association tournament when it racked up a net 2,963 on the Arcade alleys in the opening competition of the annual classic this week.

Johnston Printers hit 2,961, and the C. & N. W. "400" five came through with a 2,944 good for third place. The United Commercial Travelers senior aggregation, which posted high single game of 1,030, scored 2,930 for fourth, followed by the City Drug at 2,712.

MASTER OF THE MASTERS — The cameraman who took this picture at the start of the Masters golf tournament in Augusta, Ga., must have had a crystal ball in his right hip pocket. He certainly put the right man in the place of honor. That grinning golfer in dead center forefront is none other than Jimmy Demaret, who 72 holes later had compiled a winning score of 281 to beat the six men flanking him here, plus a host of other experts. Past winners of the Masters' classic lined up here, left to right, are Horton Smith, 1934-36; Byron Nelson, '37-42; Henry Picard, '38; Demaret (himself); Graig Wood, '41; Gene Sarazen, '35, and Demaret Keiser, the surprise winner of 1946. ## HERMANVILLE, VFW 5'S MEET

Kessler, Kuchenberg And Company See Action Thursday

The Escanaba VFW basketball quintet will meet the Hermanville Silver Foxes in the Escanaba junior high school gymnasium tomorrow evening. The tipoff is slated for 8. There will be only one game.

Twice these two aggregations met before this season, and twice have the Silver Foxes, runner-up in the last Niagara, Wis., independent tournament, emerged triumphant, as the saying goes. But—and on this fact dwells the aim of the VFW—both games were won by small margins.

In other words, the veterans feel they can turn the tide tomorrow night, and Messrs. Jim Kessler, Mickey Kuchenberg, Bud Pryal, Bob Dufour et al will see what they can do about accomplishing said tide turning.

Kuchenberg, incidentally, is the little fellow who made the Globe Trotters sit up and take notice in the recent exhibition tilt at the junior high. Kuchenberg started sinking so many shots from so many angles that the colored boys almost miffed their comedy act.

As a matter of simple fact, it was Mickey who intercepted a "pitch" (Editor's Note: "Pitch" is correct) in the Trotters' baseball burlesque on the gym floor and nearly scored a basket all by himself with everybody else watching the act.

His goal spree in the last half enabled him to tie the Bob Ranguette and Axel Peyton, the colored ace, for top scoring honors with 24 points each.

National Open Golf Qualifying June 2

New York, April 8 (AP)—Sectional qualifying trials to reduce the field to its proper size for the National Open golf championship will be held Monday, June 2, in 26 cities throughout the country, one more than a year ago.

The U. S. Golf Association, announcing the date and sites for the eliminations today, disclosed that Memphis, Tenn., has been added to the list and that qualifying points have been shifted to new locations in seven other sections.

GIANT PLAYER INJURED

Sheffield, Ala., April 8 (AP)—Whitey Lockman, New York Giants centerfielder, broke his right ankle when he slid into second base during the first inning of an exhibition game with the Cleveland Indians here today.

CANADIENS BEAT LEAFS

Montreal, April 8 (AP)—Paced by Little Billy Reay who scored two goals, the Montreal Canadiens shutout the Toronto Maple Leafs, 6-0, tonight to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven final series for the coveted Stanley cup.

DALLAS TAKES CARDS

The Dallas Rebels of the Texas league backed up the six-hit pitching of hurler Tom Pullig to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 3 to 1 at home today. The Rebels pounded three Redbird hurlers for 11 hits.

The Sports Parade

BY Jim Ward

HELP, HELP—WHO WON?

One of the joys of sportswriting is giving the big ballyhoo treatment to something which figures to tie you up in knots while you sit on the edge of your seat and sip paper dolls. "It's really big stuff," the manager-promoter says. "You can't go wrong. Pull out all the stops and give us plenty of space. Is there anything you need—information, names, pictures, mats, cuts. We'll be glad to cooperate in every way."

So, as a sportswriter with the best interests of your community, you cooperate. You're glad to pull out all the stops and make with the prose that is designed to draw thousands to the gates to witness this sports spectacle of the ages that would put a Roman chariot race to shame. It will be truly sensational, you say to yourself as you pound out breathless copy that must even send the heartbeat of a linotype operator into doubletime.

There, you've done it! And you return to your editorial labors, meanwhile making a mental note of the possible outcome and how you'll play it on the page. Now what happens? This is where the bugaboo of sportswriting comes in. The big event comes off. You've been busy with other editorial labors. You're ready to report the big event. But where's the manager, the secretary with his notes, the publicity man? Where's the guy who sold you this bill of goods? Remember the fellow who told you to pull out the stops and go the limit?

He's nowhere to be found. You couldn't locate him with a crystal ball, a 10-foot pole, not even by radar or television. He's gone, and there's a breathless public waiting to read the story of this spectacle, and you're supposed to be working for a daily, not the Atlantic Monthly.

So it goes—and maybe an hour on the telephone, (assuming the strike has ended! If not, you do a marathon up and down Ludington street, to the school, the gym, baseball diamond, tennis courts, bowling alley, recreation center), and maybe, if you're lucky, in an hour or two, you've got your story.

So, this is just a gentle plea to all managers, promoters, secretaries, chairmen of publicity committees, liaison men, etc., to give with the results. Occasionally, just occasionally, mind you, because we can't whip this thing in one day, think of getting the results in prompt. Be half as enthusiastic in after the game as you are for the advance buildup.

We have no particular incident in mind. Just many over a period of many years. Managers of teams quick on advance stuff but slow on results. Or, those who keep you posted on victories but forget the defeats. We recall asking one fellow: "What became of your game the other night?" To which he blandly replied: "Oh, I couldn't give you that one—we lost!"

Well, after giving a six-ten penny nails and a 10-minute lesson in journalism, we got that one straightened out. Those cases are poison. Like the defendant who refuses to testify; the jury says: "Uh, huh! Just as we thought—guilty!" So, you see, crime doesn't pay.

Just give it all to us, good or bad, and John Q. Public, the guy entitled to know what's going on, will appreciate it.

All of which boils down simply to this—as much cooperation during and after the big event, be it a meeting or a contest of some sort, as you give us on advance stories.

Thanks, that's swell!

Wolverines Stop Duke Nine, 4 to 3

Durham, N. C., April 8 (AP)—Cliff Wise, ace Michigan university hurler, held Duke to six hits to pitch the touring Wolverines to a 4-3 victory over the Blue Devils in a baseball game here today.

Al D'Alonzo, Duke first baseman, was the only Blue Devil able to touch the Michigan pitcher for better than one hit, chalking up a pair of triples in four times at bat.

The Wolverines put together 10 safeties in setting Duke down for its fourth straight loss.

WOLVERINE IS COACH

St. Louis, April 8 (AP)—Irvin C. Uteritz, former University of Michigan quarterback and backfield coach at the University of California for the last 12 years, today was named backfield coach at Washington university.

The Bears' new backfield mentor called signals for three years at Michigan under the direction of Fielding H. (Hurricane) Yost, famous Wolverine coach, and wound up his playing career there in 1924.

Robinson Hitting Brooklyn Pitching At Fast .400 Clip

New York, April 8 (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first negro to break into modern organized baseball, may know before the end of this week, whether he also will become the first negro to reach the major leagues since Moses Fleetwood Walker played for the Toledo club of the American Association in 1884.

Still the property of Montreal in the International league, Robinson will wear the uniform of the Royals when the Brooklyn Dodgers engage their farm club in a two-game series at Ebbets field tomorrow and Thursday.

It is conceivable the decision may come within the next two days as President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers has pointed out on more than one occasion that Robinson's advancement to the majors depended upon what he showed in competition against the Dodgers in the 11-game meetings between Brooklyn and Montreal. Tomorrow and Thursday's games mark the end of the series between the two clubs.

Thus far, Robinson has done everything expected of him. In addition to being the best batter in the Royal's camp, the batting king of the International league last season has walked Brooklyn pitching for an average around .400. That despite several minor injuries and an upset stomach which sidelined him for several days.

Towel Tossed In; Sugar Ray Scores Fourth Round TKO

Kansas City, Kas., April 8 (AP)—World Welterweight Champion Ray Sugar Robinson, 155, scored a technical knockout in two minutes and 30 seconds in the fourth round over Eddie Finazzo, 160, in their scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

Finazzo's second throw in the towel after the Baltimore boy had been downed twice for the count of nine in the third round and had been dropped by a hard left in the fourth.

REDS SWAMP RED SOX, 9-1

Cincinnati Team Wallops Boston For Eleven Hits, 3 Homers

Knoxville, Tenn., April 8 (AP)—Behind the five-hit pitching of Rookie Eddie Evers, the Cincinnati Reds swamped the Boston Red Sox, 9-1, today, clubbing the American leaguers for 11 hits, including three homers.

OTHER BASEBALL RESULTS

The New York Giants defeated the Cleveland Indians, 4 to 0, bringing their 17-game, cross-country baseball series to a 6-6 deadlock. . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers concluded their long distance exhibition schedule prior to their return to Ebbets Field by downing the Charleston club of the Sally league 9-2. . . . The New York Yankees wound up their Southern tour by whipping the Baltimore Orioles, 7-3, behind the smooth three-hit pitching of Rookie Don Johnson.
